Description

The Aging Studies curriculum focuses on knowledge of physical, mental, and social aspects of aging. Students are introduced to the aging process, social institutions and policies, programs and services, and providing direct services to older persons and their families. This is the first certificate in an enhanced human services career pathway. Core principles from the Association from Gerontology in Higher Education (AGHE) serve as a guideline for the course work. A 2.5 grade or higher is required in all GERO and HUSE courses. General education courses require a 2.0 grade or higher.

Students continuing their education for the Human Services Certificate of Achievement or Associate Degree are required to meet with the Human Services Program Director prior to or during their first semester to obtain practicum information and application requirements for fall semester. Before practicum placement at the next level a criminal background check is required, and a DHHS Central Registry check for placements with children and families or agencies providing services to children and families.

Milestone

Completion of GERO 100 with a 2.5 or higher is a key component for success in completing this program. Knowledge obtained in this course is the foundation for learning in other required courses. Students are encouraged to contact their faculty if they need additional assistance with learning the concepts presented in this course.
