ASCs promote National Reading Month

In March, two Academic Success Coaches (ASC) held events in support of National Reading Month where 18 students visited with ASC Jayde Sugden-Storrs who promoted reading and bookmark-making in the TLC building.

ASC Field Trip: MSU-RCAH

On Friday, April 19, ASC Zack Kowalski took a group of students to visit MSU's Residential College in the Arts & Humanities after several students expressed interest in visiting. Zack coordinated with faculty and staff at MSU and took seven LCC students to visit. The day included an overview of the college, some interactive events involving art creation, lunch, and a visit to the Broad Art Museum.

Finals Frenzy

Academic Success Coaches held several events to promote engagement and student success April 29-May 1 for Finals Frenzy. These events were Zen Doodles, Chips and Tips, and a Board Game break.

Finals Frenzy: Zen Doodles

Zen Doodles was a program that allowed students to practice some mindfulness either before or after their exams during the week. It was open to student's interpretation on what they wanted to draw. If they needed some creative assistance there were suggestions at the ready from a basket to help them get started. The program was available every day during finals week and more than 10 students participated the first couple of days. The drawings were displayed on the glass window of the Success Coach Lounge (GB 2202).

Finals Frenzy: Chips and Tips

Chips and Tips is a tradition in which the Academic Success Coaches walk around campus handing out bags of chips with study tips on them. The walk arounds happened April 29 and 30 at the Downtown campus and April 29 at West campus. The ASCs handed out nearly 400 bags of chips Downtown and 75 at West Campus to students.

Finals Frenzy: Board Game Break

On Wednesday May, 1 ASC Randy Noffke held a board game study break in the Success Coach Lounge (GB 2202) along with sandwiches to offer students an opportunity to unwind and connect. Approximately 25 students stopped in, and some stayed to play board games. A few had never visited the Success Coach Lounge before and were able to connect with both students and staff.

Annual Social Justice Forum Investigated Incarceration

LCC’s annual Take A Stand! Sit In! social justice forum was held April 10 -11 both in person and online. Investigating Incarceration: Artists and Activists for Healing and Reform focused on some of the myriad issues facing the incarcerated, their families, the legal system and the entire community.

The forum was held in person for a half-day on April 10 at the United Methodist Church in collaboration with the Capital City Film Festival (CCFF) screening four short films followed by a filmmaker panel discussion. April 11 featured four online sessions throughout the day. Plenary speaker was Lisa Biggs, a scholar, performance artist and Brown University professor who spoke about and read from her book “The Healing Stage: Black Women, Incarceration, and the Art of Transformation.” Another session featured flash talks by LCC faculty and staff Elizabeth Clifford, Tamara McDiarmid, Nadia El-Anani and Benjamin Garrett. A third session included discussion with higher ed and community organizations working with and for the incarcerated: Mott Community College, the University of Michigan Prison Creative Arts Project, Citizens for Prison Reform, and Nation Outside. The final session featured the film “The Sentence” followed by discussion with the filmmaker, two-time Emmy winner Rudy Valdez, an LCC alum.

This year’s Take A Stand! Sit In! forum was organized and led by Take A Stand founders Anne Heutsche (History), Brad Hicks (Humanities) and Pamela Smith (Sociology), along with Melissa Kaplan (Arts Outreach) and Annescia Dillard (Center for Teaching Excellence).

Daisy Award

The not-for-profit DAISY Foundation, based in Glen Ellen, California, was established by family members in memory of J. Patrick Barnes. Barnes died at the age of 33 in late 1999 from complications of idiopathic thrombocytopenic purpura (ITP), a little-known but not uncommon autoimmune disease. The care Barnes and his family received from nurses while he was ill inspired this unique means of thanking nurses for making a profound difference in the lives of patients and their families.

The Daisy award winner, Jill Murphy, is a 2021 LCC graduate. The nomination, submitted by a patient’s family member, read as follows: “I had the pleasure of meeting Jill while a family member was hospitalized at McLaren Greater Lansing. I absolutely fell in love with this lovely individual. Jill by far must be one of the best nurses I have encountered in the medical field over the past 40 years.”

The nominator continued to give an example of a time Murphy stood out as an exceptional nurse, stating: “Jill spoke in a soft, kind, and loving manner. She would stay with our loved one and would stand by the bedside holding her hand while chatting with family. She was always patient and never hesitated to take extra time to answer a thousand questions from a large family.”

Murphy is also continuing her education to receive her master’s in nursing and said with the support of her team, she has built the confidence and skills to be able to provide the best care possible for her patients.

Lookout Wins Top Award at the Michigan Community College Press Association Conference

LCC’s student newspaper, The Lookout, won nine awards in the 2024 Michigan Community College Press Association’s annual journalism competition. Among those awards was the contest’s top prize, first place in the “General Excellence” category. This is the third time in four years that The Lookout has earned this award competing against 10 other community colleges. The winners of the awards were announced during the 2024 MCCPA Conference at Central Michigan University. Three members of The Lookout staff attended the event, along with Adviser Larry Hook.

Cap. Gown. Career.

The Cap. Gown. Career. event was a comprehensive celebration of graduates’ experiences and plans for future endeavors. The event featured a 401K workshop, an Alumni Network Lunch and a vision board design. The event sought to help graduates prepare for their professional careers and connect them with alumni. A total of 50 graduates and their supporters participated in the festivities. The registrar’s office, academic advising, career and employment services, and volunteers all performed important roles during the successful event.

The complete list of awards is as follows:

Professional Clothing Drive and Pop-Up Shop

Career and Employment Services hosted a professional clothing drive in February, receiving donations of professional clothing items from LCC faculty, staff, and community members. The Pop-Up Shop opened for students on March 11 in the Career Center, allowing students to take any items they needed at no cost. Between March 11 and April 22, we were able to give professional clothing items to more than 120 students.

Phi Theta Kappa Students and Advisors Attend National Conference

Students and advisors of the LCC Phi Theta Kappa National Honor Society Mu Tau Chapter recently attended the Catalyst National Conference held in Kissimmee, Florida. This conference is held each year to provide professional development and recognize student achievements. According to PTK co-advisor Laz Lane, "PTK students, regional officers, advisors and staff members were celebrated for their excellent achievements and awards during the 2023-2024 school year. Many advisors and college presidents were recognized. Many students were also presented with an official hallmark award, while others had to compete and present to get voters to choose them for a prestigious position, such as International Officer. A couple of keynote speakers were invited. Two of them, who are part of the PTK Society, included International Officer Liam Blakeway and PTK President and CEO Dr. Lynn Tincher-Ladner. Two other speakers were Evy Poumpouras, a former Secret Service agent for former U.S Presidents, and Misty Copeland, the first African-American female principal ballet dancer. The conference offered several breakout sessions for advisors and students, including a transfer fair, different educational forums, lounges to mingle and other professional development activities."

Pop-Up Food Pantry

Food insecurity among college students is a growing concern nationwide, as one in three students experience food insecurity. Students who struggle to access nutritious food are more likely to experience difficulty concentrating in class, miss assignments, and may drop out of college. The Pop-Up Food Pantry was established in February 2023 to address the immediate needs of food-insecure students as a part of LCC's commitment to student success. The pantry aims to provide students with free, shelf-stable, nutritious food to ensure that hunger does not become a barrier to their education while on campus. To preserve dignity, students are not asked to prove hardship and are not asked to provide their names. Food is available at all campus locations.

The number of visits to pantries in April were 537.

54th Annual Student Recognition Celebration

This yearly award event honored outstanding Lansing Community College students in the areas of academics, community service and involvement in co-curricular activities. Student organizations, departments and programs recognized students for their achievements and successes. The event was very well attended and a number of awards were presented to our amazing students. Thank you to everyone who came to celebrate and congratulations to all of our students!

Japanese Club hosts cultural events

LCC's Japanese Club hosted multiple events throughout the spring semester, introducing students to Japanese food, games and art.

Students welcomed the new year with a calligraphy event, learning from Shiga Prefecture's representative to Michigan, Yuta Matsubara, and his wife Satomi. In Japan, people traditionally write their first calligraphy of the year (called kakizome) to reflect upon their goals for the upcoming year. Most LCC Japanese Club members were using a calligraphy brush for the first time.

In March, students joined in a Japanese Game Day in the Learning Commons, featuring mahjong, hanafuda flower cards, traditional Japanese toys and an origami corner.

In April, more than 20 students traveled to Novi, which boasts the highest concentration of Japanese residents of any community in Michigan. Students dined at Nagomi Japanese Restaurant and then visited a large Japanese supermarket, exploring everything from raw fish to fermented natto soybeans. During the outing, the club awarded President Adil Kolah with an award for his original Japanese essay, which he submitted to the 2024 Hinoki Foundation Japanese Writing Contest.

The club capped off the semester at LCC's 54th Annual Student Recognition Celebration, where club advisors awarded three club officers and two members for their outstanding work. The Japanese Club advisors are Bridget Cooper and Anne Hooghart.

Wilson Talent Center Students Visit Health and Human Services

On Tuesday, April 23, more than ninety 11th grade students from Wilson Talent Center's Health Foundations classes visited the Health and Human Services Division. During their visit, students participated in hands-on activities with faculty from the nursing, surgical technology and diagnostic medical sonography programs.

The Business of Promise

LCC Board of Trustees Chair Angela Mathews and Trustees LaShunda Thomas and Noel Garcia, Jr. along with Dr. Seleana Samuel were in attendance at the Lansing Regional Chamber Economic Club and Lansing Promise event The Business of Promise which featured special guest Earvin "Magic" Johnson for a Q&A with Lansing Promise scholars.

Social Media Analytics for April 2024

Social Media Analytics Key

Total Posts

How many times a video, image, tweet, article, etc., was sent out on a given social media platform that month.

Follower +/-

How many users that decided to follow or unfollow a social media page in a given month for each platform.

Reach

A metric that refers to the number of users who have encountered a particular content on a social media platform.

Total Monthly Reach

This metric is estimated by each platform. It is a give-or-take of how many users in total viewed any content from a social media page that month. It shows roughly how big of a net is being cast.

Average Reach per Post

This is not an estimate like the "Total Monthly Reach" stat. This is calculated by taking the reach for each post that month and then dividing it by the total number of posts that month. It gives an idea of how many users, on average, came across a post from a given platform that month.

Engagements

Engagements are generally defined as when someone interacts with a post. What constitutes an engagement varies by platform. Examples of engagements include liking a post, commenting, sharing, saving, clicking on a link, clicking on an image, or re-sharing a post.

Total Engagements

The total sum of engagements for each post from each platform in a given month.

Average Engagements

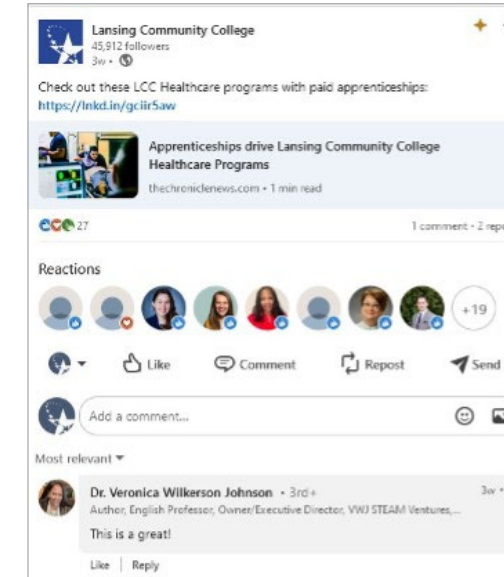

'Total Engagements' divided by 'Total Posts' for each platform. Gives an idea of how many interactions from users/followers one could expect for an average post during the month for the specified platform.

Engagement Rate

Also referred to as Engagement Rate by Reach (ERR). This divides the 'Average Engagements' metric by the 'Average Reach per Post' metric. Essentially, this measures the percentage of users who chose to interact with a post after seeing it on the specified platform.

The following are the top posts for LCC Social Media during the month of April.

in LinkedIn
1,955 Reach · 30 Engagements

f Facebook
11,478 Reach · 120 Engagements

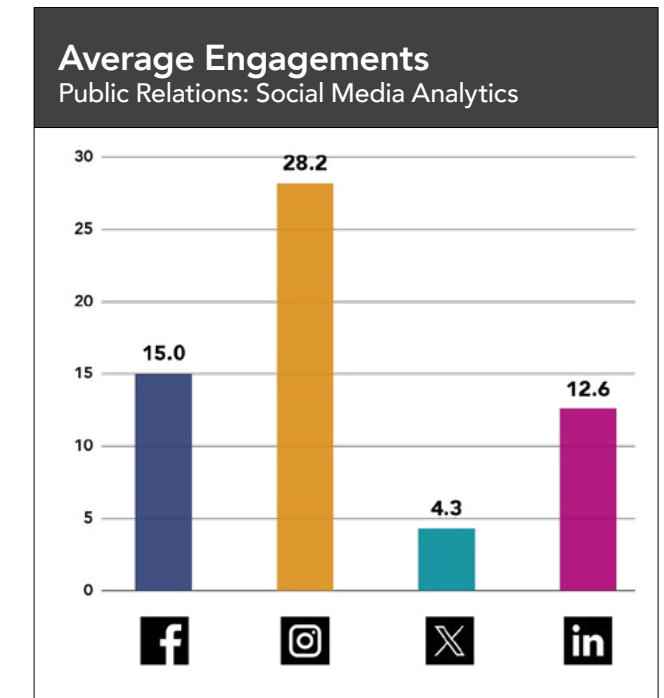

X X (Twitter)
228 Reach · 17 Engagements

ig Instagram
1,074 Reach · 118 Engagements

The following is a breakdown of how LCC performed on our social media channels in April.

#CCMonth Instagram Contest – April 2024

With April being Community College Month, a social media giveaway contest was created for students. The contest was hosted on our Instagram page: instagram.com/lccstars. Each day during the first week of April, we posted a photo and asked students to reply to our question and use the hashtag #CCMonth.

For context, an average Instagram post from our account (@lccstars) during the month of April reached 467 accounts and earned 28 engagements for an engagement rate of 6.05%.

In total, there were seven posts shared on our Instagram for the #CCMonth giveaway campaign. These seven posts averaged 778 accounts reached and 68 average engagements for an engagement rate of 8.7%. During this period, our Instagram also received 42 new followers.

Monday's Winner: Gillian Blazzkowski

Question: How has LCC helped you on your academic journey?

Gillian's Answer: "LCC has helped me SO much so far! The amount of student resources have helped me succeed, even when I've felt lost. The success coaches' check-ins are so nice because it often feels daunting to reach out on my own. The professors WANT you to succeed, so they're always willing to give you help if you need it."

Thursday's Winner: Zipporah Cyars

Question: What is your favorite place on any of LCC's campuses?

Zipporah's Answer: "My favorite place on LCC campus is the second floor of the TLC building, the sunshine and natural light are so refreshing"

Tuesday's Winner: Bailee Thelen

Question: Who is your favorite person at LCC? This can be a fellow student, instructor, or staff.

Bailee's Answer: "My favorite person is professor Susan Jensen! She is the Nurs211 professor! She's such a funny person and makes learning the basics about nursing fairly easy! She's so entertaining and tries her hardest to put herself in our shoes and supports us in any way she can. I love a lot of the nursing staff so far, they're amazing people and I'm so thankful for them!"

Friday's Winner: Andrea Watters

Question: What is a lesson you have learned while studying at LCC?

Andrea's Answer: "I have learned that you are never too old to reach your goals. Find yourself and keep striving to be your best. LCC has helped me realize that a returning student does matter and can achieve great things!"

Wednesday's Winner: Cari Shauver

Question: Why is LCC important to you?

Cari's Answer: "LCC is important to me because it made me believe in myself and my academic capabilities again after suffering severely debilitating mental illness in high school. I felt like I'd lost who I was as a student and a person, and successes at LCC helped me gain that confidence and self-esteem back. It is a place where you can truly thrive!"

Meet and greet introduces students to campus resources

The Center for Student Support held a lively Perkins Special Populations Meet and Greet on April 9. With more than 30 enthusiastic attendees, both staff and students had a blast discovering the array of support services available to students in occupational programs at LCC. The event featured an engaging presentation, an interactive icebreaker game, and delicious pizza.

Fostering STARS attend annual Fostering Futures dinner

LCC's Fostering STARS Program had a fantastic time at the Fostering Futures Scholarship Fundraising Dinner on April 19 at the Radisson Hotel in Kalamazoo. The evening was filled with speakers, live music and prize drawings donated by generous sponsors, including LCC. Ten impeccably dressed Fostering STARS students represented LCC.

After Gov. Gretchen Whitmer delivered a heartfelt speech, two inspiring stories from previous Fostering Futures Scholarship recipients, Kimaya Bak and Bella Hounakay, left our students feeling motivated. The women shared their journeys from arriving in the U.S. as "Unaccompanied Refugee Minors" to becoming first-generation college graduates.

We are also thrilled to announce that two of our Fostering STARS, Angelina Fidler (May 2024 graduate/Auto Tech-AAS) and Ruby Cothran (a first-year transfer student/World Languages-AA), were also recognized as recipients of the Fostering Futures Scholarship during the program. We couldn't be prouder!

Local high schoolers visit West Campus

West Campus hosted several area high schools in April, showing them our programs and facilities.

- + The Networking and Cybersecurity class from Clinton County RESA visited on Tuesday, April 2. They spent time learning about our Drone Pilot, Computer Information Technology and Mechatronics programs. They also heard about expectations in the cybersecurity industry from LCC's Director of Information Technology and transfer tips from Wyn Wilson.
- + Criminal Justice students from Alma High School visited on Friday, April 5, for an exclusive visit with our Public Service Careers programs, namely the Fire and Police Academies. Students spent time with each area, learning about the expectations and duties of each career path.
- + The Ionia High School construction classes visited on Thursday, April 25, to learn more about our Building Construction, Construction Management, Architecture and Civil Technology programs. Students participated in hands-on tours with Building Construction and Welding during their visit.
- + Lansing Public Schools students visited on Tuesday, April 30, in partnership with Consumers Energy, to see a lineworker demo in the pole yard. Becky Sutton presented about LCC's Lineworker Program, and the Electrical Technology Program conducted a hands-on tour with the group.

LCC meets with Howell High School construction students

Secondary to Post-Secondary Program Coordinator Allison Snyder and Director of Trades Technology Rex Peckens visited Howell High School on Monday, April 15, to speak with their three construction classes about educational opportunities at LCC and career opportunities post college graduation.

Cesar E. Chavez Learning Center visits West Campus

On Monday, April 15, two members of LCC's Cesar E. Chavez Learning Center visited West Campus for a tour of the building and a meet-and-greet. After taking the tour, the employees completed a riveting demonstration with LCC Welding Technology faculty members.

Faculty host riveting demonstration

On Monday, April 15, Vern Messler and LCC Welding Technology faculty members hosted a lecture and riveting demonstration in the Fabrication Lab. They were joined by students, staff and community members.

LCC engages industry partners: Ultium Cells

On April 22, three representatives from Ultium Cells hosted a recruitment table on West Campus, in the Center for Manufacturing Excellence hallway. They sought students from the HVAC, Advanced Manufacturing, and Electrical Technology programs. While on campus, the Ultium Cells representatives also networked one-on-one with students and faculty members.

West Campus hosts Capital Area Manufacturing Council

The Technical Careers Division hosted the Capital Area Manufacturing Council's recurring member meeting on April 22. Presenters from MILEAP, Capital Area Michigan Works!, and the Waverly Robotics team gave presentations to a group of about 50 manufacturers from around the Capital Area. Afterward, the Waverly Robotics club demonstrated the talents of the robot they built for the World Championship competition in Houston, Texas.

Technical Careers attends Eastern High School Career Fair

On April 24, Nicole Ross of the Technical Careers Division attended a career fair at Lansing Eastern High School, hosted by their student council organization. While there, she gave out information about Technical Careers and about LCC more broadly.

West Campus hosts Tech Forward: Women in Trades, Technology and Public Service Careers

On April 12, West Campus hosted the annual Tech Forward: Women in Trades, Technology and Public Service Careers event. The day included a keynote speaker, panel discussion, hands-on experiences with programs, and networking opportunities with employers and resource providers. About 70 people attended.

West Campus presents to Mason Middle School about apprenticeships

IT and Construction/Electrical Programs Apprenticeship Coach Wyn Wilson and Work-Based Learning Coordinator Kelsey Lorichon presented on April 19 to students at Mason Middle School. They talked to a total of 10 groups of seventh and eighth grade students about apprenticeships, work-based learning and Technical Careers Division programs.

Students in drone class research invasive plant species

Students in LCC's Drone Program joined two Eaton County projects tracking invasive plant species and monitoring a wetland restoration. The students flew the drones at Potterville State Game Area, taking still images and video. Assistant Professor for Computer Information Technology/Geospatial Sciences Shelley Jeltema is the instructor for the course.

LCC hosts second annual Drone Safety Day

On Saturday, April 27, West Campus hosted its second annual Drone Safety Day. The event included opportunities to engage with industry experts and learn best practices in drone safety. Participants could fly drones and complete their TRUST assessment to become officially certified as a recreational flyer. About 60 people attended the event.

Orientation Road Show Hits the Pavement!

The Admissions Department completes the first week of New Student Orientation in the high-schools. Samantha Brunnschweiler, Counselor from Haslett High School stated that providing New Student Orientation in the high-school is a "game-changer." Students also expressed gratitude and were excited to be enrolled at LCC before they were officially graduated from high-school.

Admissions Counselors, Financial Aid Counselors, Academic Advisors, Support Services Access Consultants and Star Zone staff traveled to Charlotte High School, Haslet High School, and Howell High School to provide New Student Orientation to students starting at LCC in the fall.

So far, the numbers are great!

Totals for the three high schools whose orientation was completed by May 1:

- + 49 students registered to attend orientation
- + 44 students attended
- + 89.7 % show-rate
- + 30 students enrolled
- + 68.1% of the attending students completed enrollment for Fall 24

The next high schools scheduled for the Orientation Road Show are Lansing Catholic High School (May 2), Mason High School (May 2), and Fowlerville High School (May 3).

The New Student Orientation program will visit 13 area high schools.

Susan Hardie Judges Congressional Art Exhibit

For the third year in a row, associate professor Susan Hardie, Art and Design, was invited to judge the annual Congressional Art Competition by Rep. Elissa Slotkin. An awards ceremony was held May 3 in the MSU Union with all submitted works on display and the winners announced.

Each spring, the Congressional Institute sponsors a nationwide high school visual art competition to recognize and encourage artistic talent in the nation and in each congressional district. Since the competition began in 1982, more than 650,000 high school students have participated.

BCI Showcases Customized Training Options at HR Day Event

BCI seized the opportunity to set up a table and market customized training to HR professionals. The HR Day event was held at the Lansing Center in downtown Lansing with over 1,200 HR representatives in attendance. BCI was able to strategically introduce our customized and fun approach to training by utilizing the example of the DiSC behavior profiles.

BCI Trains Gestamp on Microsoft Excel.

Gestamp selected the BCI to deliver 16 hours of Excel Training. This course started with the basic concepts and skills in Microsoft Excel and then built on these to provide more advanced tools to solve real-world problems and analyze and present complex, realistic data.

BCI Trains Orthopedic Rehab Specialists on Effective Leadership

Orthopedic Rehab Specialists selected BCI to provide Effective Leadership training. As a part of the BCI exclusive leadership institute, this effective leadership course emphasized the importance of communication, trust building, and emotional awareness and intelligence as cornerstone leadership attributes. DiSC training was foundational to this leadership course and emphasized personality types and traits.

BCI Trains Lansing Tile and Mosaic on Blueprint Reading for Construction

Lansing Tile & Mosaic hired BCI to provide a customized Blueprint Reading for Construction course. Offered exclusively to Lansing Tile and Mosaic, this customized training utilized working drawings to teach tile and mosaic installers how to read, interpret, and work off of working drawings.

BCI Presents DiSC™ Catalyst Workplace Behavior Styles to Crowne Plaza Hotel

The Crowne Plaza Hotel hired the BCI to provide an important DiSC™ Catalyst Workplace Behavior Styles training to the Crowne Plaza Executive Team. Based on the original work of DiSC™ assessment developer, Dr. John Geier, this training introduced participants to the four D – I – S – C workplace behavior profiles. As part of the training each participant completed his or her own DiSC™ profile by answering a series of questions based on workplace interaction and gaining insight into colleague DiSC™ styles.

BCI Trains MWC Glanbia in Building Cohesive Teams for Leaders

MWC selected BCI to deliver more than 140 hours of training at the St John’s location. This training focused on developing awareness and teambuilding skills by studying Patrick Lencioni’s 5 Dysfunctions of a team and developing the 5 Behaviors of an effective team. This will be a quarterly training with an emphasis on different behaviors and exercises each quarter.

BCI Delivers DiSC™ Training to MWC Glambia

As more organizations strive to implement quality initiatives and self-directed work teams, it becomes increasingly important to improve interpersonal communication among employees. One of the critical building blocks to improved interaction is an understanding of the different behavioral styles and how they affect the way people communicate. The purpose of this program was to increase participants' awareness and understanding of the four primary behavioral styles and their affect on interpersonal interactions and relationships.

BCI Trains Case Credit Union on Leadership for Managers

This customized training for CASE Credit Union provided essential communication and emotional intelligence guidance to experienced and emerging leaders. Topics covered included the importance of team support and providing an appreciative and supportive work environment.

BCI Trains Ultium Cells in GD&T

This training provided participants with knowledge of the Geometric Dimensioning and Tolerancing (GD&T) system. Course content included the correct interpretation and application of each symbol, rule, datum, orientation, location, and profile. Emphasis was placed on interpreting detailed drawings and communication skills required in machining work governed by the technical standards.

BCI Trains Ultium Cells in Metrology

This training provided students with the skills to understand the sciences of measurement. Metrology is important to all stages of manufacturing, including design to the quality of the finished product. The course covered measurement instruments, scales, gauges, micrometers, and calipers.

BCI Trains Ultium Cells in Critical Conversations

Participants were trained to use a few simple tools and mindset shifts as enablers to keep people in dialogue, even when talking about a hard or emotionally fueled topic. Ultium employees learned that the ability to proactively address difficult topics and situations is a function of our ability to notice what's happening within ourselves, and recognize clues in other folks and navigate a course to safety through turbulent waters.

BCI Trains Ultium Cells in Blueprint Reading

This program provided participants with the basic skills needed for interpreting technical drawings/blueprints. Areas of instruction include interpreting and understanding technical document symbols, labels, purpose, and functionality.

BCI Trains Ultium Cells in Building and Maintaining High Performance Teams

This training provided participants with skills related to advanced leadership techniques that are used in team building.

BCI Provides Ultium Cells with Lean Simulation

Ultium Cells, LLC selected BCI to deliver Lean Simulation training at the University Center. This is an activity-based course that is intended to demonstrate the value and effectiveness of applied Lean principles, tools, and techniques. Ultium employees participated in a scripted business simulation where they were required to problem-solve and perform several process improvement cycles on a manufacturing process. This was a hands-on educational experience and enabled participants to understand the breakthrough improvement possibilities with Lean.

BCI Trains Ultium Cells in 8D Practical Problem Solving

8D Problem Solving is an activity-based course that provides the skills and knowledge needed for solving problems using the Global 8D industry-standard model. This workshop provided an emphasis on the practical use of common problem-solving tools. The training included technical concepts, simulations, case studies, and classroom discussions. Teams of participants performed practical exercises, allowing them to implement the theories in a team-oriented atmosphere.

BCI Provides Ultium Cells with Lean Orientation

Participants learned how Lean provides a framework made up of a philosophy, practices, and principles that aim to help practitioners improve efficiency and the quality of work.

BCI Trains Ultium Cells in Hazardous Energy and Hazard Recognition

This training was designed to instruct participants on recognizing and responding to industrial hazards with an emphasis on electrical hazards. Participants were taught how to identify hazards common to the Ultium production facility, how to respond, and where to report hazardous conditions.

BCI Provides Ultium Cells with Lockout Training

This program provided individuals with training on the importance of energy control programs, procedures, training, audits and methods for controlling hazardous energy, and the knowledge and skills required to safely perform servicing and maintenance activities.

ACCESS students join events on public speaking and interviewing

On April 2, the Cesar Chavez Learning Center (CCLC) hosted an empowering event titled “Speak, Share, Shine: Insights and strategies to improve your public speaking skillset” for Access to College and Careers with Excellence through Student Support (ACCESS) students. The featured speaker, Terry Burleson Jr., shared invaluable wisdom on mastering public speaking in various settings, be it professional or familial.

Burleson emphasized the normalcy of nervousness, reassuring students that it’s a natural part of the process. He underscored the importance of maintaining organization and conciseness in speeches, while also highlighting the significance of nonverbal cues such as body language, facial expressions and tone of voice. Furthermore, Burleson emphasized that public speaking is a skill that can be honed through practice, and encouraged students to overcome self-doubt and believe in their capabilities. He reminded them that their minds can be their greatest obstacles, but with self-belief, there are no limits to what they can achieve.

On April 16, ACCESS students enjoyed a two-hour event titled “Secure the Bag! Are you prepared for your next interview?” The event featured Dara Mayhoe, a renowned expert in interview techniques, who shared 21 invaluable tips to enhance participants’ interviewing skills.

Throughout the session, students actively engaged in discussions and interactions prompted by Mayhoe’s insightful guidance. She captivated the audience with her personal anecdotes and examples, and emphasized the importance of managing one’s online presence, as many potential employers review social media profiles to assess candidates’ character and integrity. She stressed the significance of presenting oneself with tactfulness and dignity, and underscored the impact of personal branding. Moreover, Mayhoe emphasized the significance of punctuality and professionalism in interview settings, advising students to arrive at least five minutes early to demonstrate organizational skills and preparedness. Overall, the event provided ACCESS students with valuable insights and practical tips to excel in interviews, empowering them to navigate the job market with confidence and professionalism.

LUCERO students enjoy community resource fair and networking hour

On April 4, CCLC hosted a “Community Resources” event tailored for students in our Latinos Unidos con Energia, Respeto y Orgullo (LUCERO) program. The objective was to encourage greater community engagement among students by facilitating access to valuable resources. The event featured six community organizations and businesses: The Capital Area City Library, Contigo Counseling Services, Cristo Rey, Akouo Consulting, the LCC Library and LCC Career and Employment Services.

On April 9, the CCLC hosted a networking hour for LUCERO students, focusing on the dynamics of nonverbal communication. The event, led by Devin Flournoy, discussed the importance of nonverbal cues and body language in shaping first impressions and the subconscious reactions elicited by facial expressions. The session also provided valuable insights into communicating safely with law enforcement, particularly in situations like traffic stops. Students were guided on navigating interactions with police officers, emphasizing the importance of clear and respectful communication. The session also explored the concept of Total Physical Response (TPR) and its integration with nonverbal cues, examining how physical actions can complement verbal communication to enhance understanding and convey messages more effectively.

Men About Progress learn about entrepreneurship

CCLC hosted an event for Men About Progress (MAP) students on April 10, titled “Entrepreneurs and Business Start-Ups.” The event featured a workshop with guest speaker Tony, discussing strategies for success as an entrepreneur. The program also covered tradeoffs faced by entrepreneurs, such as balancing personal feelings with business success. Devin Flournoy’s presentation focused on the entrepreneur mindset, curating a business mindset, and the time commitment required for a successful business.

WISE Program celebrates women role models

On April 11, CCLC organized an event for Women Inspiring Scholarship through Empowerment (WISE) students called “Wonder Women: A Tribute to the Women Who Inspire Us.” The day served as a celebration of strength, resilience and inspiration, a paean to the influential women who personally inspired, influenced and supported our students.

ODI student employee takes the lead

Student employee Marla Camacho facilitated the Office of Diversity and Inclusion’s presentation to prospective students during the New Student Orientation, held in the Gannon Building. This orientation is a vital process for incoming college students, designed to acquaint them with various aspects of college life and resources available to support their academic journey.

On April 25, Camacho also served as the moderator for a panel discussion held during the “Tech-Forward: Women in Trades, Tech, and Public Service” event at West Campus. Tech Forward featured a diverse panel of accomplished women from various fields, including Cindy Kangas, Executive Director of the Capital Area Manufacturing Council; Johanna Schuster-Craig, a building construction student; Haley Hunion, a fire academy student; Katie Bent, a part-time instructor at Lansing Electrical JATC; and Tami McDiarmid, LCC’s Public Service Careers Program Director. The event provided attendees with insights into career opportunities in trades, technologies and public service fields

LCC hosts Mexican-American Heritage Mixer

On April 24, CCLC collaborated with LCC’s Hispanic Heritage Awareness Committee to host an event in honor of Cinco de Mayo and in celebration of Mexican-American heritage. Participants had the opportunity to delve into the historical significance of Cinco de Mayo and understand why it holds greater importance in the U.S. than in Mexico.

Cinco de Mayo commemorates Mexico’s victory over the Second French Empire at the Battle of Puebla in 1862. Interestingly, Cinco de Mayo is not a widely celebrated holiday in Mexico, but rather originated as a celebration in California during the American Civil War, organized by native-born Latinos and immigrants from Mexico and Latin America.

Olga M. Correa also led a discussion on the differences between the terms Hispanic, Latino/a, Latinx, or Latine, providing valuable insights into the diversity and complexity of Latin American identity. The event left participants with a deeper understanding of Mexican-American heritage and the diverse identities within the Hispanic and Latin American communities.
